

Military Psychology Certificate

Military Psychology Certificate

Required Courses

MIL SCI 1091	Introduction to the Army and Critical Thinking	1
MIL SCI 1092	Introduction to the Profession of Arms	1
PSYCH 1093	Military Psychology	1

Elective Courses 12

FAM SERV 3145/514	Violence in Intimate Relationships
PSYCH 3304	Work Psychology: Well-Being
FAM SERV 3160/516	Prevention and Early Intervention Skills
PSYCH 3305	Work Psychology: Performance
PSYCH 2401	Clinical Psychology
PSYCH 3403/5403	Abnormal Psychology
PSYCH 3303/5303	Health Psychology
PSYCH 2203	Social Psychology
SW 4171/5171	Addictions Treatment
PSYCH 4705/5705	Research Experience in Psychology*

Total Hours 15

* PSYCH 4705/5705 may be repeated up to 6 hours. PSYCH 4705/5705 can be substituted for elective courses above. Students develop a research project integrating psychology and military science. Present the results at the spring research conference, an ROTC event, or another public venue. Note – to do this the student would have to obtain a faculty advisor to chair the project. Note that PSYCH 3002 is a prerequisite for this course.

Policies

PSYCH 1001 Introduction to Psychology is a prerequisite for most other psychology courses, and must be taken by all psychology majors and minors. It also counts as a UNIFI/General Education requirement.

Only courses with an earned grade of at least a C- will count toward major, minors, and program certificates.

It is possible for psychology majors to graduate with departmental honors provided they have an overall GPA of at least 3.00, a psychology GPA of at least 3.50, and complete a research project deemed worthy of honors by the department. Generally such a project is done in the context of 3 hours of PSYCH 4705/5705 Research Experience in Psychology.

Related Programs

- Psychology B.A.